Dear Dr. Newman

Enclosed please find the items I've mentioned via phone, and I hope they arrive in good usable condition, please inform if otherwise, I can recopy.

I did not find any data on the May 1780 issue, but the film's due date had expired so it was returned to keep in good graces with the State Library, but I will re-mind the request & try again, it should be there.

Data on the various dates of issues have been located in the Treasurer's Ledger of Receipts, TR-8, & 10, which are the earliest surviving Treas Ledges, however, the journals of Receipts cover from Jan 1777 on a daily basis, and I will check them if the Library will loan.

I will also check other Treasurer's records to determine the printer & the actual signers of the various issues, for in both cases, signers, & printer, perhaps engravers, they were paid by the State to do so.

Hoping the enclosed are both useful & informative, and find you in good health.
Sincerely,
Howard W. Hamner

JOURNAL

OF THE

HOUSE OF DELEGATES

OF THE

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA;

BEGUN AND HELD AT THE CAPITOL,

IN THE CITY OF WILLIAMSBURG,

ON MONDAY, THE TWENTIETH DAY OF OCTOBER, IN THE YEAR OF OUR LORD ONE THOUSAND SEVEN HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-SEVEN.

Friday, January 23, 1778

Richmond

table, where the resolutions of the committee were read; and are as followeth, viz:

Resolved, That the armed vessels Dragon, Tartar, and Gloucester, should be fitted for service with all possible expedition, and stationed between Cherry stone harbor and Cape Charles, in order to keep open, and free from interruption by the enemy's cruisers, the channel between that cape and the middle ground; and the officer commanding these vessels, be directed to keep two swift sailing boats, or tenders, one of which to be continually at sea off the mouth of said channel, to inform inward bound vessels of the station of the enemy's cruisers, and to bring them under the protection of said armed vessels; that the other tender cruise in the Bay, and give notice where the enemy's ships are placed.

Resolved, That the harbor of Cherrystone, should be well fortified as soon as possible, and a small magazine of stores kept there, for the use and refitting of the vessels placed on that station, without loss of time; which harbor, so fortified, will afford great security to the trade of Chesapeake Bay.

Resolved, That as the protection and security of vessels bound into this Bay, is of great importance to our sister State of Maryland, as well as to this Commonwealth, that the commissioners appointed to meet commissioners on the part of Maryland, concerning the navigation of the Bay, &c., be instructed to press upon the commissioners from Maryland, the propriety of that State joining with this, in defending and securing the navigation of Chesapeake.

Resolved, That the two gallies now building on the Eastern Shore, should be fitted as soon as possible, and stationed, one of them in Matomkin harbor, and the other in Chingoteague, for protection of trade on the seaboard.

Resolved, That it will be expedient and proper, to propose to the State of North Carolina, that one of the two large gallies, built for the defence of the seacoast harbors of that State by this Commonwealth, should be received by that State at the expense she cost this; and be employed, together with the galley of this State now at Edenton, for the protection of a navigation equally important to both States.

Resolved, That the original design of building gallies in each river, was, for the defence of such rivers, against the attempts of the enemy; that they should be stationed in the respective rivers; should be fixed constantly near the mouths, or entrance, into such rivers, respectively, (unless, upon very urgent occasions, the Governor and Council should direct them to some other use,) with orders, to be perpetually cruising there when the weather will permit; as well to prevent the enemy's tenders from entering to disturb and pillage the shores, as to protect the trade of the same; and, that when large vessels of war shall enter and pass up said rivers, that the gallies be ordered to attend them, and watch their motions, keeping constantly between the enemy's ships and the shores, so as to prevent the pernicious practice now too much in use, of suffering the enemy to draw provisions from the country, for the better enabling them to prolong the war, and injure the commerce of the State.

The said resolutions being severally read a second time, were, upon the question severally put thereupon, agreed to by the House.

Ordered, That Mr. Richard Henry Lee do carry the resolutions to the Senate, and desire their concurrence.

The orders of the day being read,

Resolved, That this House will, to-morrow, resolve itself into a committee of the whole House, to consider further of the letters from the Governor, which, with several other papers, were ordered to lie upon the table.

Resolved, That this House will, to-morrow, resolve itself into a committee of the whole House, to consider of the bill, "for giving proper salaries to certain officers of government."

Resolved, That this House will, to-morrow, proceed by joint ballot with the Senate, to the choice of the Judges of the General Court; a member of the Privy Council, in the room of Bartholomew Dandridge, Esq.; a delegate, to represent this Commonwealth in General Congress, from the tenth day of May to the eleventh day of August next; a public Treasurer; and of a Naval Officer, for the district of Nottoway and Blackwater.

Ordered, That Mr. Lee do acquaint the Senate therewith.

And then the House adjourned till to-morrow morning, 9 o'clock.

FRIDAY, January 23, 1778.

The order of the day being read, for the House to proceed, by joint ballot with the Senate, to the choice of the Judges of the General Court;

Ordered, That the members do immediately prepare tickets to be put into the glasses, with the name of the person to be appointed one of the Judges of the General Court.

Ordered, That the glasses be brought in.

The glasses being accordingly brought in, the clerk and serjeant at arms attending this House, went with the members on each side of the House, to receive the said tickets.

And the members having put in their tickets, the glasses were brought up to the clerk's table.

Ordered, That a committee, be appointed to meet a committee of the Senate in the conference room, and jointly ment; in this number, the five serjeant bombardiers of Monsieur Loycaute's corps shall be employed, and in consideration of their being as well artificers as artillerists, shall be allowed one dollar and one third per day. The said one hundred men shall be formed into two companies, under the command of a captain and lieutenant, each. Monsieur Coyet, shall be the first captain; the other, and the lieutenants, shall be chosen by the Governor and Council: the whole to be under the command of Monsieur Pierre, as major, whose pay shall be one dollar and two thirds per day, besides customary rations; and the pay of Capt. Coyet, shall be one dollar and one third per day, besides rations.

Resolved, That the several officers beforementioned, shall be commissioned by the Governor and Council of this Commonwealth.

Resolved, That Monsieur Bagarre, be employed in the said school, with a commission to give him the rank of a captain, but no command except over the artificers; his pay to be one dollar and one third per day, besides the customary rations.

Resolved, That in consideration of the great merit of these foreign officers, in coming so far from home to assist the cause of liberty, and of their extraordinary skill and trouble in the introduction of this useful art amongst us, they ought to receive the following gratuity each, over and above their pay, to wit: to Monsieur Loycaute, the sum of 275*l*; to Monsieur Pierre, 165*l*; to Monsieur Coyet, 145*l*; and to Monsieur Bagarre, 145*l*; so long as they shall respectively continue in the service of this State; and if either of them shall happen to be wounded, or grow infirm in the service of this Commonwealth, a suitable provision shall be made for his future support, at the expense of the public.

Resolved, That a sum of money not exceeding in the whole 5,000*l*. be paid by the treasurer, by order of the Governor and Council, from time to time, as the same shall be necessary for the purposes of the foregoing resolutions, to be accounted for to the General Assembly.

Dear Mr. Newman

Please find enclosed copies of some of the material discussed in pursuit of more info on the VA half-penny. I hope you find them interesting, and, if you wish, I can send more. Please consider them for your eyes only.

Regarding the VA Treasures Book entry Oct 1, 1793 hereafter in dollars & cents, I have requested the film of it & will send a copy of it, rather than my rough notes.

If you have some time to spend on the phone, we can split the costs, I enjoy that form of communication to this, as my fingers have difficulty in following proper instructions.

I must add that if it were not for your work on this coin and all the time and effort spent on same, my interest might not have developed.

Most Sincerely,
H. W. Harner

Born in Edinburgh, Scotland. He was trained as a watchmaker. He moved to Philadelphia in 1782. Married Eunice Beal in 1783. They had a son and three daughters. He was appointed engraver for the State of Virginia about 1780. He was a member of the Masons.

Scott succeeded Wright as chief engraver at the Philadelphia Mint November 23, 1793. His salary was $1200 per year. He retained the official title at a time when the actual artistic work was being performed by John Reich. A letter from Director Robert Patterson in 1807 stated that Scott was "so advanced in life, that he cannot very long be expected to continue his labors." He retained the position of chief engraver until his death 16 years later.

He engraved the dies for these medals:

Scott, John Subject of Medal

John Scott was a common name in Philadelphia. Julian does not identify a specific individual. An Award citation states that it was presented "under the Will of John Scott of Edinburgh, Scotland."

An award named for Scott resulted in the production of a 105 mm mint medal (Julian AM-70). The obverse shows the arms for the city of Philadelphia. They were produced 1880 to 1886.

Scott, John Walter Dealer (b. 11/2/1845 d. 1/4/1919)

Born in London, England. He came to New York in 1863. Married with five children. He went to California briefly and worked for a grocer in Sacramento. On return voyage to New York, he was shipwrecked Panama.

He returned to New York to establish a coin and stamp dealership. He has been called "The Father of American Philately." His first firm was J. W. Scott & Company. The Scott company published the Collector's Journal. He sold out in 1884 and the firm became Scott Stamp and Coin Co. Although he received a good price for his business, he lost his fortune through bad investments. He organized J. W. Scott & Co again in 1889. The owners of the other Scott company sued for over use of the Scott name. The U. S. Supreme Court decided in favor of J. W. Scott. He sold out to J. Handshaw in 1917 for $10,000 down and $30,000 payable in five years. He conducted auction sales for both stamps and coins. About 53 of his 146 auctions contained numismatic material. He died at home in New York City.

Scott purchased the reverse die for the Confederate Half Dollar. He obtained 500 genuine 1861-O dollars, removed the reverse design, and impressed reverse from the Confederate die. He also used the die to strike a token in white metal. These were produced about 1879. Scott then offered the reverse die for sale for $50.

Ohio Company, GM also wanted a final adjustment to the company's claims that dated back to 1749. Enactment of this bill would mean the eventual possession by GM personally and by the surviving Ohio Company partners generally of between 250,000 and 300,000 acres of western land. Understandably, GM was not inclined to let the legislative maneuver of 24 Jan. block his efforts, and accordingly he presented on that same day a resolution which delayed the issuance of western land titles until a Land Office had been established. A second resolution invited western land claimants to present their credentials (i.e., evidence of grants made by orders from the royal governors and councils) during the ensuing spring. These resolutions passed, and left GM satisfied that at long last the Ohio Company matter could be settled. To that end, GM wrote James Mercer and suggested an early meeting of the company partners (6 Feb. 1778). The bill took care of other land claimants with equal generosity, of course, but the provisions upholding CHARTER IMPORTATION RIGHTS DULY PROVED and admitting NEW WARRANTS AND ENTRIES FOR THE SAME were of direct benefit to GM. On the other hand, the effort to permit bona fide western settlers to claim 400 acres and HAVE THE PREFERENCE IN SUCH LAND AS THEY HAVE ACTUALLY OCCUPIED was a magnanimous gesture. The STATE-PRICE, OF THE LAND SO ENTERED was fixed at £40 per 100 acres by the Land Office act of 1779. THE USUAL COMPOSITION MONEY was the long-standing royal fee of 10 shillings per 100 acres, paid at the time a royal land title was issued and a primary source of revenue UNDER THE FORMER GOVERNMENT. The exception for settlement of lands NOTORIOUSLY RESERVED BY THE COMPANY would have given strength to any speculators, such as the Ohio or Transylvania companies, that had already surveyed western lands. The section dealing with the appointment and functions of a COMMISSION . . . FOR THE PURPOSE OF COLLECTING ADJUSTING AND DETERMINING SUCH CLAIMS is entirely in GM's handwriting and may have been his sole responsibility. The broad powers granted to the commissioners, including the provision that JUDGEMENT, WHEN RENDERED, SHALL BE FINAL, were somewhat curbed in the act as adopted. Nonetheless, the quasi-judicial body was soon to be criticized in a remark that could have been pointedly directed at GM. "Tryal by Jury is held sacred in their bill of rights," a Pennsylvanian noted, "and is totally taken away by this law" (quoted in Boyd, III, 208). Despite GM's optimism, the bill was not passed in the next session, but again postponed until the fall session of 1778. GM served on the committee charged with bringing in the bill, and an amended version was presented in Mar. 1779. A variety of further amendments, including one which set up districts for hearings by the commissioners, was agreed upon before final passage in June 1779 (JHD, 1827 ed., 17 May, 21 June 1779 entries). The act with its amendments is found in Hening, X, 35-50.

GM's corrections on the first six pages and his full text from page seven onward are enclosed in angle brackets. The corrections by Jefferson and a collation of the draft Ms with the act as adopted will be found in Boyd, II, 155-167. Dr. Boyd believes that the 1777 date in the draft Ms, in GM's hand, is proof that this bill and that for establishing a Land Office "were written at least as early as the Oct. 1777 session, perhaps being drawn before the session was convened" (ibid., 167).

An Act "to prevent private persons from issuing bills of credit in the nature of paper currency"

in the nature of paper currency, which may tend to the deception and loss of individuals, as well as to the great injury of the publick, by increasing the quantity of money in circulation, already exceeding the present medium of commerce:

II. Be it therefore enacted by the General Assembly, That every person who, from and after the passing of this act, shall, without authority from the legislature of this commonwealth, issue, or offer in payment, any bill of credit, or note for any sum of money payable to the bearer, shall forfeit and pay ten times the sum of every such bill of credit, or note payable to the bearer, so issued or offered in payment, to be recovered with costs, by warrant from any justice of the peace where the penalty shall not exceed the sum of twenty five shillings, by petition in the county court where the penalty shall be more than twenty five shillings and shall not exceed the sum of five pounds, or by action of debt or information in any court of record where the penalty shall be above the sum of five pounds; one moiety whereof to the informer, and the other moiety to the use of the county where the offence shall be committed, towards lessening the county levy, or the whole to the use of the county where the prosecution shall be first instituted, on behalf of the county only.

III. And be it farther enacted, That any justice of the peace for the county where such offence shall be committed may, and he is hereby empowered and required, either upon his own knowledge or information, and due proof thereof made, to require any person issuing or offering in payment any such bill of credit, or note payable to the bearer, to give bond with sufficient security, in the sum of five hundred pounds, for his good behaviour, and upon refusal or neglect to commit such offender to prison, there to remain until he shall give security accordingly; and if the offender shall thereafter issue or offer in payment any such bill of credit, or note payable to the bearer, the same shall be adjudged a breach of the good behaviour, and forfeiture of the bond.

Printed from Hening, IX, 431-432.

Circumstances make it appear that GM was acknowledged by his House colleagues as their leading authority on financial matters. In the absence of specific evidence, it can only be conjectured that the private BILLS OF CREDIT had been issued by merchants who were exasperated with the depreciating state and continental currency issues and thus resorted to issuing script promissory notes. Certainly such devices have been common in American history during times of financial stress. Whatever the situation, the measure was brought before the House of Delegates in the final rush toward adjournment. GM was appointed chairman of a committee to prepare the bill on 17 Jan., he presented the measure on 22 Jan., and he carried the approved bill to the Senate on the following day (JHD, 1827 ed., 23 Jan. 1778 entry). The other committee members were Edmund Pendleton and Isaac Zane. Private bills of credit are
